

PREPARE CAPONS FOR BEST PRICE

No Feed or Water Should Be Given for 24 Hours Before Fowls Are Killed.

STICKING METHOD FAVORED

Some Feathers Should Be Allowed to Remain as Distinguishing Mark—Pack in Neat Boxes of Most Convenient Size.

Capons selected for killing should be confined for 24 hours without feed or water to empty their crops completely. The usual method of killing is known as the sticking method. The fowl is hung up by the feet, the head in the left hand, and the whole body stretched to full length. The mouth is forced open and the blood vessels at the back of the throat are severed with a sharp, narrow-bladed knife. The knife is then turned and the point plunged through the roof of the mouth to a point just behind and between the eyes, piercing the brain. The muscles are relaxed and the feathers come out easily.

Dry Picking Is Best. Capons should always be dry picked, as they look much better and as some of the feathers should be left on. The feathers of the neck and head, that is, the feathers, those a short way up the back, the feathers of the last two joints of the wing, and those of the leg, about one-third of the way from knee to hip joint, should be left on. These feathers, together with the head of the capon, serve to distinguish it from other classes of poultry on the market, and consequently should never be removed. In picking, be careful not to tear the skin. Bad tears, poultry specialists of the United States department of agriculture say, should be sewn up. Capons should be packed in neat boxes of most convenient size, holding a dozen capons, or in barrels. Every attention should be given to neatness.

Pack in Neat Box. After picking, the carcasses are hung in a cool place until the animal heat has entirely left the body, when they are ready to be packed. Like other poultry they should be packed in boxes of convenient size, holding a dozen carcasses, or in barrels. Every attention should be given to neatness.

and attractiveness, as this helps the sale and the price. During the time of year when most capons are marketed—January, February and March—no ice is necessary, but if for any reason they are shipped in warm weather they should be packed in ice.

STORING FOR BEST RESULTS

Important to Know Natural Keeping Qualities of Different Kinds and Varieties.

Before one can make a complete success in storing fruit and vegetable crops it is important to know the natural keeping qualities of the different kinds and varieties. Some kinds of fruits and vegetables are better suited to storage and different varieties of fruit and vegetable crops must be handled differently to insure the best results.

INCREASE PROFITS OF FARM

Development of Motor Transportation Expected to Bring Farmer Better Returns.

The development of motor transportation of farm products is going to be one of the big things in the progress of farming in the next few years. It is going to place agriculture on a more profitable basis, and eliminate much of the spread which has existed between the consumer and the producer.

HEALTHY AND VIGOROUS HEN

Right Kind to Keep in Laying Pen for Production of Eggs—Disease of Defects.

It does not matter how well bred a hen may be or how well she may be fed for her egg production, if she is not naturally healthy and vigorous, she will not be a bird to keep in the laying pen. Birds that have any physical defects should not be kept.

Sudan Grass for Feed.

The feeding value of Sudan grass is equal to timothy hay. In localities where soy beans or cowpeas do well, these legumes may be grown in mixtures with the Sudan grass.

Marketing by Parcel Post.

Consumers and producers alike may well look into the possibilities of direct marketing by parcel post, for nearly products.

Prevent Chicken Diseases.

Scatter alkali-salt lime all around the houses and yards and you will do much to prevent roach and cholera. It is a sure germ destroyer and is especially good as a deodorizer under the perches.

Fine Grid and Charcoal.

It is surprising how much fine charcoal little chicks will eat. This and fine grid should be kept before them all the time. They are most preventive of stomach and bowel disorders.

FEDERAL INSPECTION PREVENTS BIG WASTE

Shippers, Receivers and Others Interested Assisted.

Sworn Statements as to Condition of Fruits and Vegetables Hastens Sales, Thereby Facilitating Distribution.

More than 25,000 inspections of fruits and vegetables moving in interstate commerce were made by representatives of the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture, during the 12 months ended June 30, 1920. This is an increase of 78 per cent over the number of inspections for the preceding year.

By the use of food products inspection service shippers, receivers and others interested can obtain sworn statements attesting the condition of perishable products received at central markets. With immediate evidence of the condition of the food sales are made promptly, thereby facilitating the distribution of the products handled. This prevents deterioration of years of loss.

The American type of face looks best in a hat which is extremely simple. It may require some self-restraint to resist the appeal of that extra bow or flower for your new hat, but the result will be worth it. If you are the feminine, clinging type of woman, you may wear a very pleasant sound and not at all the sort of a growl a fierce animal would make.

"Gracious," said Mr. Brown Bear, "you get me all excited about something and then you say that you don't mean what you've said. I'd like this afternoon tea, now you speak of it, for it might be rather good. I may not just know the name."

"I've found that the things bears give us are very good indeed. I was in another zoo a little while before I was brought to this one. Do you have afternoon tea?" "Tell me truly!" "Well," said Mr. Brown Bear, "afternoon tea is not just what I should call it. But I thought as you were a bear I would call our afternoon tea 'saftin' attached to a fitted bodice like camisole, from which hangs in turn a deep flounce of lace in lieu of the knee petticoat."

SELECTING A HAT

Choice Should Be That Which Suits Wearer's Type.

Style Authority Asserts Women Should Wear Millinery Suitable to Their Own Personality.

A hat need not be expensive to be becoming, but it must be well chosen. The attractive hat in every case is the hat which suits the wearer's type. But, advises a style authority, choose wisely a hat which happens to strike your fancy, and which looks well on the salesgirl. Rather study your personality and dress up to it.

If you are a woman of middle age whose features are beginning to show certain lines, you should not wear a hat which turns sharply off the face, nor one with sharp angles. The soft, cloudy lines of a drooping brim, be it ever so small, will better suit your type and disguise some of those wrinkles. A fish-colored facing is also a very pleasant sound and not at all the sort of a growl a fierce animal would make.

THE FAIRY TALE

Afternoon Tea.

Did you ever hear about our afternoon tea?" asked Mr. Brown Bear of a new bear who had just come to the zoo. The new bear was named Blackie for he was a black bear and the brown bear was always called Mr. Brown Bear.

"I don't know that I ever did," said Blackie. "I have had a number of afternoon teas in the zoo, and some of them were named Blackie, too. Perhaps they have heard about it."

"Isn't That Nice?" "So you have afternoon tea, eh? And what is afternoon tea? Is it made of berry juice or something like that which a bear would like?" "No," laughed Mr. Brown Bear, in a soft growling voice, for he was a very pleasant sound and not at all the sort of a growl a fierce animal would make.

"No," he said again after a moment, "it does not mean that our afternoon tea is of berry juice or anything like that. In fact, you could hardly say that it was afternoon tea."
